The other day I noticed a handwritten sign taped to the front door of a business. In large, sprawling letters it read: “NO CHILDREN UNDER 12 ALLOWED INSIDE.” No doubt, a struggling shop owner’s boundaries had been violated by some unruly grade-schoolers. Maybe customers had complained or property had been damaged. Whatever the problem, this harried owner had decided that exclusion was the only way to regain control, keep the peace, and maintain cash flow.

I’m sure most people passing by that sign didn’t give it a second thought. Such decisions are, as we say so matter-of-factly, the price of doing business. After all, children by themselves add little fuel to the economic engine. Besides, they can be meddlesome, annoying, noisy, and once they start running around, they’ll probably break something. Maybe even our hearts, if we let them. Probably best to keep them off the premises.

Here at Thornwell, we collect a lot of children whom others have excluded from their lives for one reason or another. For many of them, exclusion has meant violence, abandonment, and outright rejection. At other times, a cold indifference, cruelly sustained over time, has left young lives lying by the side of the road. I admit there are moments when even the most seasoned caregivers among us must fight to keep back the tears and, yes, the anger when we hear the stories of some of these children.

But no matter what they’ve been through, once these kids come to us, we refuse to let them remain victims of their past. Instead, we immerse them in a safe and loving environment; we teach them that God made them and loves them; and we celebrate every day with them as a new beginning, full of opportunities to learn and to grow.

At times, they try our patience and test our commitment. No doubt, they need to know what we’re made of because they’ve been so fiercely disappointed before. We stay with them and keep going as far as our skills, good humor, and prayer will carry us. And every day, young lives are transformed on this campus.

For 132 years, Thornwell has welcomed excluded children, helping them to turn the pain of their past into hope for their future. While the contemporary culture romanticizes our work and is sympathetic to our plight, it is individuals like you who do the heavy lifting. You foot the bills, keep your churches involved, write the birthday cards, recruit new friends, and refuse to look away when the cries are deep and the needs are clear.

I know that many of you are giving sacrificially to Thornwell. You refuse to let your budget, your geography, even your church affiliation become self-imposed boundaries that would keep you at a distance from these children who have already known so much exclusion. Others of you are giving out of your fiscal abundance as a way to express your boundless gratitude for all in life that has nurtured and sustained you, personally and professionally.

Whatever reason you support Thornwell, your generosity provides ongoing and daily reminders to these children that they are wanted and valued. What a gift you offer! Thanks be to God. And to you.

Sincerely,

Robert W. “Skip” Stansell, Jr.
President
When Amanda Shelnutt graduated from Thornwell High School in 2005, she had already made a big impression on everyone. For six years, this multi-talented student had immersed herself in everything Thornwell could offer. She played bass clarinet in the band, lettered on the basketball team, starred in numerous Thornwell stage dramas, served as vice president of her Junior and Senior Class, and was a long-time member of the Beta Club. During these years, she also made her first mission trip to Honduras with new friends from the Shandon Presbyterian Church in Columbia, SC, as well as discovered the joy of summer youth events at Montreat, the Presbyterian Conference Center outside of Asheville, NC.

Upon graduation, Amanda entered Thornwell’s Independent Living Program while she completed an Associate in Arts degree at Spartanburg Methodist College (SMC). Recently, she was notified that she had won a $12,000 scholarship to her dream college (Converse) and had also qualified as a Hope Scholar.

At SMC’s Awards Ceremony in April 2007, Amanda was honored with the Thomas R. Bailey Humanitarian of the Year Award, the SGA Leadership Award, and the Olin B. Johnson Good Citizenship Award for her many contributions to SMC over the past two years. Amanda was active in the Kappa Sigma Alpha Service Sorority throughout her career at SMC. This past year, she served as secretary of this organization.
The day was marked with smiles and tears as the Thornwell community saluted the graduating class of Thornwell High School during a beautiful service in the Hartness-Thornwell Memorial Presbyterian Church on May 25th. This event served as the closing chapter of the historic school while it signaled the beginning of a new educational direction for Thornwell’s resident students.

As the great pipe organ played the traditional “Pomp and Circumstance,” an academic procession of faculty and graduates in full regalia proceeded down the center aisle while family and friends watched proudly. The pastor of the church, Rev. Alice Ridgill, delivered the sermon and challenged her listeners to remember that “in every change God is faithful and can be trusted to show us the way.”

Thornwell resident graduates, Patience Connelly and Alan Roberts, were all smiles as they received their diplomas from Thornwell’s Chairman of the Board of Trustees, Jim Morton. Both Patience and Alan are looking forward to busy summers and new challenges as they make plans for September.

The final commencement of Thornwell’s School was a bittersweet acknowledgement of a wonderful history. Today the future shape of our children’s education has been confidently entrusted to the gracious providence of God and the deep commitment of Clinton schools, as well as Thornwell staffers.

Compelled by the need to reduce the costs of Thornwell’s overall educational program, the Board of Trustees has explored numerous options for funding the schools, childcare center, and farm since 2005.

Thornwell leaders began to work with a local group of citizens to open a state-funded Charter School on the Thornwell campus. In November 2006, in spite of a stellar application, unexpected setbacks blocked a proposed opening date for such a school in August 2007. We now anticipate that the Charter School will lease Thornwell’s existing school facilities and offer classes for children in grades 6-12 beginning in August 2008. Children in K-5 through fifth grade will attend the public elementary school located only a short distance from Thornwell’s campus. In addition, the Charter School committee and local school district officials are at work to develop plans which would offer a “middle college” model for education, designed to provide a more accelerated curriculum.

Plans are being developed to create a partnership between Thornwell’s farm and Districts 55 and 56 (Laurens County Schools). Courses under consideration are turf grass management, horticulture, landscaping, and animal husbandry. These class offerings would conform to the requirements of the new Economic Education and Development Act (EEDA), designed by South Carolina legislators to boost students’ academic efforts by helping them experience the importance of the skills they learn. The 16 EEDA “career clusters” of study will provide opportunities for out-of-classroom observation and learning.
“Change is never easy no matter how thoughtful the process,” said Skip Stansell, president of Thornwell. “However, in light of local economic realities and the rising cost of maintaining our campus schools, the Board of Trustees knew they had to do something. They also knew that the needs of our resident children must come first. Therefore, whatever changes we make will always be directly related to doing what’s best for them.”

In preparation for the 2007-2008 school year, Thornwell has already put into place an Academic Support Team led by Norman Dover, a seasoned educator who has served as principal of Hartness-Thornwell Elementary School for more than 20 years. His staff will include a Target Skills teacher, along with assistants and hourly tutors. This team will partner with the Family Teachers who live with the children in the cottages to provide daily academic support for all the children.

In addition, Thornwell will open and maintain the school libraries and computer labs for the use of the children throughout the school year. Thornwell’s Accelerated Reading Program, credited in large part with the children’s excellent scores on standardized tests, will also continue to be a part of the ongoing curriculum. For all the budding young Thespians on campus, Thornwell will continue its well-known drama department in collaboration with the local public schools.

By God’s grace, these decisions will help to ensure the preservation of Thornwell’s historic ministry of residential care and Christian nurture for displaced children. “The remarkable ministry of Thornwell on this campus has a wonderful future ahead,” said President Stansell. “Discerning the details of that future is the work entrusted to us at this time. Throughout these last three years, we have learned anew what generations of former Thornwell leaders have always known: the God who has brought us safe thus far is completely faithful and trustworthy. In that confidence alone we are both quieted and encouraged to keep moving forward into the future.”
At their annual banquet on April 26, 2007, Thornwell’s Board of Visitors (BOV) gave two special tribute awards in honor of long-time friends of the Thornwell Home for Children.

Robert M. Vance Family—Distinguished Benefactors

The Robert M. Vance family of Clinton, SC, was recognized as Distinguished Benefactors. Presenting the award was Paul de Holzcer, Thornwell alumnus and BOV chairman. Virginia Gray Vance accepted the award on behalf of her late husband, Robert, and their children, Mary Bailey Vance Sutt, Robert M. Vance, Jr., and Russell G. Vance.

A gift of $500,000 from the estate of Robert M. Vance has established the Robert Berly Vance Endowment for Christian Nurture at Thornwell. The endowment is named to honor the memory of Robert Mercer Vance’s father, Robert Berly Vance, a beloved citizen of Clinton, banker, and mercantile operator. This major gift from the Vance family has been joined by an additional $250,000, raised largely in Laurens County through churches and individuals, to support in perpetuity the work of Christian nurture at Thornwell. Additional gifts and pledges are being sought to complete a total $500,000 match for the Vance family’s outstanding gift.

A gift of $500,000 from the estate of Robert M. Vance has established the Robert Berly Vance Endowment for Christian Nurture at Thornwell. The endowment will provide for support of the campus pastor, Christian educator, and church musician of the Hartness-Thornwell Memorial Presbyterian Church. In addition, income from the endowment will offer the children of Thornwell opportunities for mission trips, church camps, and conferences that are vital experiences for Christian growth and development of leadership skills.

Norman G. Dover, Jr.—Distinguished Service Award

Recognized as an esteemed educator and advocate for children, Thornwell’s highly respected elementary school principal, Norman Dover, was honored with the Distinguished Service Award.

“In every family, church, and institution, there are women and men whose lives allow us to catch glimpses of the Kingdom of God,” said Paul
Norman joined the Thornwell family in 1984, expecting only a brief tenure before he moved on. Twenty-three years later, however, it is impossible to think of Thornwell without thinking of him. He has been a teacher of English, drama, and science, and is most passionate about Thornwell’s Accelerated Reading Program. He served as assistant principal of the combined schools, and as a coach and athletic director. Then, in 1994, he accepted the position of principal of the Hartness-Thornwell Elementary School.

By his daily walk and conversation, Norman quietly bears witness to his deep faith in God. Together with his wife, Robin, and their three sons, Norman has enriched the lives of hundreds of children, as well as the entire community of Clinton. Now, as the leader of Thornwell’s new Academic Support Team, he continues to be a treasured part of Thornwell’s ministry to children.

“In every family, church, and institution, there are women and men whose lives allow us to catch glimpses of the Kingdom of God.”

Norman receiving a congratulatory hug from Kirsten Alexandria.
For two days, more than 40 members of Thornwell’s Board of Visitors descended upon campus to spend time with the children in their cottages, hear the latest updates on recent changes, attend a performance of Beauty and the Beast by the Thornwell Theater Department, brainstorm new ways to tell the Thornwell story, and present the Distinguished Benefactor Award and the Distinguished Service Award to two beloved friends of Thornwell during a campus-wide dinner.

Paul de Holczer (Columbia, SC), an alumnus of Thornwell, well-known attorney, and chairman of the Board of Visitors, said: “It’s always great to be on campus and see our board members engage with these kids. Everyone goes home with inspirational stories to tell about the work being done here.”

Board members come from South Carolina, Georgia, and Florida. As friends of Thornwell, their mission is to make sure that Thornwell’s story is being told to everyone back home. And, this exuberant, outgoing crowd is just the people to do it.

Jay Coker and Sharon Coker (Fayetteville, NC) wrote:

“Even with the transitions involving the school, we are very encouraged by the good work being done. Let us know how we can continue to help.”

Wini and Bill Steadley-Campbell (Argyle, FL) wrote:

“Dear Skip: Our heartfelt and most profound thanks for the warmth, kindnesses, and courtesies from you, your staff, and most of all from the young people. It was indeed a memorable, inspirational, and educational experience. We are back spreading the word of how blessed we are to have dedicated people like you making a change in young lives. We are looking forward to being with you in 2008. May God continue to bless you and Thornwell in your noble work.”

Ann Jeffrey (Roswell, GA) wrote:

“I appreciated being a part of all that went on. It was well done, very informative, and spending time with Kirsten and the girls in her cottage was special. Thank you and all involved for a great meeting, and especially for all that each of you do for these children. I hope to get a chance to tell more people about what goes on at Thornwell. I’ve got several avenues I’ll pursue.”

Carl and Carol Ann Schlich (St. Simons Island, GA) wrote:

“I was tremendously impressed by what I saw and heard at Thornwell...what you folks do for the children, you do extremely well and with a lot of class.”

In the next few months, additional persons will be tapped by the president for membership. If you know of someone who would be a good ambassador for Thornwell, please call the President’s Office and leave a name and address. The next meeting is scheduled for April 24-25, 2008.
No matter what age you are, birthdays are big deals; but, especially when you live at Thornwell. That’s because children at Thornwell seldom have meaningful memories of their birthdays before they arrived on campus. Once they’re here, however, birthdays become important events to be celebrated!

Recently, Jay Jones celebrated his 10th birthday in a big way with his sponsors, the Sojourners Class of Shallowford Presbyterian Church. In a surprise visit, the entire class came from Atlanta, GA, to the Thornwell campus just to make Jay’s birthday one he’d never forget.

When Jay returned from school, he was greeted with warm hugs from each person in the class. Then he was ushered to the center of the room where his birthday cake was sitting on the coffee table. Vann Shackleford, the designated shopper for the group, had purchased a special baseball cake with Jay’s name written across the top in icing. In addition to the cake, Jay was given two bags full of presents. First he opened a handsome red Braves shirt with the number 34 on it, and Jones emblazoned across the back (for Chipper Jones of the Atlanta Braves). Next, a baseball, stickers of the 50 states, socks, and underwear. There was even an envelope containing funds toward his biggest wish—a new mitt.

To give a child joy, to give a child a sense of belonging and caring, this is what makes Thornwell the special place that it is. This is why the sponsorship program is an integral part of the Thornwell experience.

Thornwell is grateful to each group that sponsors a Thornwell child and values these relationships as a kind of extended family for each child. Won’t you consider sponsorship for yourself or your church group? Call Chandra Coleman at 864-938-2700 and ask how you can become a sponsor for one of Thornwell’s children. It can make a world of difference for you and them.
When Dr. Tim Womack, senior pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in Vero Beach, FL, decided to cycle along Europe’s Reformation Trail to raise money for Thornwell Home, his congregation was not the least bit surprised. “They knew how much Tim loves Thornwell, Presbyterian history, and the great outdoors,” said Mike DeArruda, Thornwell’s regional representative in Florida. “It was a perfect fit for him.”

Thanks to a Clergy Renewal grant from the Lilly Foundation to the Vero Beach church, Tim devised a plan that would renew him physically, relationally, and spiritually; and, at the same time, benefit the children of Thornwell. He decided to cycle more than 1700 kilometers, tracing the movement of the historical Protestant Reformation throughout Germany, Switzerland, France, and the British Isles.

Not one to miss a teaching opportunity, Tim designed a website (cycleofrenewal.org) with a daily blog page and route updates, a Growth Study for everyone back home, and a talk-back forum for questions. He also included a Thornwell page, encouraging friends to sponsor his trip through a per mile/kilometer or a one-time donation to Thornwell.

Tim slept in hostels, pensions, and often camped out along riverfronts. Traveling along cycle paths, as well as country roads, he made his way through the cities and towns of Reformation history, including such notables as Berlin, Wittenberg, Halle, Weimar, Basel, Geneva, Nantes, Le Mont St. Michel, Winchester, Oxford, and Edinburgh. While rain seemed to be an almost constant companion, the kindness of people along the way became for him a daily reminder of the grace of God.

Each day Tim’s experiences helped him to reflect on his life, his church, and his world. Following a visit to the famous Rothenberg Clock Tower, he wrote: “When I return to Vero, we have a facility to renew. In Rothenberg, the citizens built a functional watch tower that also, through its clock, playfully told the story at the heart of the citizenry. That is the way facilities are supposed to work. They should enhance the needs of the community and they should aid in telling the communal story.”

Reflecting on the Heidelberg Confession, written in hopes of ending the discord between Lutherans and other Reformers, Tim wrote: “Jesus knew what it was like to walk the middle ground while demanding justice and obedience. He walked between disciples, some of whom lacked understanding, and others who wanted to force his hand to overthrow the Romans. He walked between Pharisses, Sadducees, and Zeolots; all of whom wanted him as one of their own. But he would be claimed by no one group. He walked between the righteous and the sinful, the pure and the unclean, the hope-filled and the hopeless. Lord, be with us in the church who walk the middle ground...”

By the end of his journey, Tim had raised more money for Thornwell than he had ever imagined. What a great way to discover renewal in ministry!
Be part of the caring ministry of the Thornwell Home for Children. Designate a gift in memory or honor of someone you love. Your gift will not only help the children of Thornwell, but it will live on as a lasting legacy to someone who made a difference in your life.

Back-to-School Needs List

This list of items will help our Thornwell children get off to a good start in public schools this fall.

Other items on our children’s Needs List include snacks (such as canned fruit, granola bars, fruit bits, snack cakes, etc.), laundry detergent, bleach, and fabric sheets.

Mission Statement
As a ministry of the Presbyterian Church (USA), Thornwell is a joyful Christian community offering hope and wholeness to children and families.

Please help us keep our mailing list current. If you have had a change of address or wish to be removed from our mailing list, please call toll-free 1-888-310-9387. We’d also be happy to send an issue to a friend. Simply call us toll-free 1-888-310-9387 and let us know.
